MEGAN WASHINGTON JOINS PPCA BOARD AS ARTIST REPRESENTATIVE

PPCA is pleased to announce that ARIA award-winning artist Megan Washington has joined the PPCA Board after successfully participating in the recent PPCA Artist Board Representative election.

"I couldn't be more thrilled to welcome Megan to the PPCA board. Her passion and experience will be invaluable to every member of the PPCA." said George Ash, PPCA Board Chairman.

Washington will take her place on the Board alongside fellow Artist Representative Lindy Morrison, after successfully contesting the annual election in which eligible registered PPCA Artists are able to nominate and vote for an Artist Representative.

"I am honoured to serve on the board of PPCA, a company which plays a vital role for recording rights holders and Australian artists," Washington said. "I look forward to working together with the PPCA board and management team to ensure that we continue to create an environment in Australia, where artists and rights holders get fair value for the use of their music."

"I express my thanks to all of the PPCA Artists who voted, not only for me, but for all candidates." said Washington at the conclusion of the election process.

Washington's remarkable song-writing and performing efforts have led her to win an array of industry awards including two ARIA Awards for "Best Female Artist" and "Breakthrough Australian Artist" in 2010 as well as the APRA Award for "Breakthrough Songwriter of the Year" in 2011 for her songwriting achievements for "I Believe You Liar."

PPCA CEO Dan Rosen today also welcomed the newest addition to the board.

“I am excited to welcome Megan Washington to the PPCA board,” Rosen said.

“Megan’s contribution to Australian music is highly respected by the industry and we are thrilled to have someone with her wealth of experience and vision on the PPCA Board.”

“I would also like to take this opportunity to thank outgoing Artist Representative Graeme Connors for his invaluable contribution to the ongoing development of PPCA throughout his time on the Board.”
